House, Senate May Pass O.P.A. Bill by Midnight

Scene of Jerusalem Terrorist Blast

Terrorists bombed and shattered part of the King David Hotel (right) in Jerusalem, wrecking headquarters of the British Army and secretariat of the Palestine government and killing at least 50 persons. The body of one victim was blown clear across Julian's Way, hitting the Y.M.C.A. building (left).

Police Detain 20 Jews; 48 Persons Die in Jerusalem

Total Dead and Missing Is 98, Is British Statement; Truck, Taxi Are Searched for Fingerprints

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

Jerusalem, July 23 (AP)—A police spokesman announced today the detention of about 20 Jews in connection with the terroristic bombing yesterday of the King David Hotel which left 98 persons dead or missing.

The known dead mounted to 48.

Military rescue crews who toiled in the debris of the hotel, the seat of British Army headquarters and the secretariat of the Palestine government, reported that 41 bodies had been recovered and seven others located. Fifty persons were unaccounted for.

The police spokesman said that, although most of the party which planted milk cans of explosives wore Arab dress, all the evidence indicated they were Jews. Eyewitnesses said the attackers spoke Hebrew. The spokesman said a search was "going on right now in the old city of Jerusalem."

A truck and taxi, both stolen, which were abandoned by the attackers were searched for fingerprints and other possible clews.

Workers moved 200 tons of debris under floodlights during the night, and the officer in charge said the job was less than half completed.

Hospitals reported that 50 persons were still undergoing treatment for injuries and that dozens of others had been treated for minor wounds.

The Palestine government said the missing included 12 senior British officers of the government secretariat. The names of British victims were being withheld pending notification of their kin.

Palestine civil service workers scheduled a 15-minute memorial of silence at noon today for the workers killed in the blast.

A curfew imposed shortly after the explosion was lifted at 5 a. m. except in the immediate area of the $1,000,000 hotel. Nevertheless, all Palestine continued tense.

Resentment of both Arab and Jewish communities rose noticeably following publication in the Palestine Post of the names of Arabs and Jews were killed.

"The crazed calculations of men who have broken with their cause have weighted the air with horror," said the Post, which is the voice of official Zionism.

Horror Is Expressed

The Jewish agency likewise expressed horror and denounced the "gang of desperadoes" responsible.

Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner of Palestine, was en route here from London, having cut short talks with British officials on the Palestine situation.

Lt. Gen. Sir Evelyn Barker said

More Bread, Beer Are Outlook in U.S.

Prospective Crops Record Raises Possibilities; May Lift Bans

Washington, July 23 (AP)—Prospective record-smashing crops of corn and wheat raised the possibility today of whiter bread, larger loaves and, perhaps, more beer, once the harvests are in.

At the same time the bumper crop outlook put pressure on government officials to decide soon whether to resume buying of grain for famine relief.

An Agriculture Department official close to policy making told a reporter it is possible there may be some easing of domestic restrictions on consumption of grains if the excellent crops prospects are realized. He asked not to be quoted by name.

Present regulations:

Prevent flour millers from producing for domestic demand more than 85 per cent of their 1945 output.

Require extraction of 80 per cent of wheat when flour is ground instead of the normal 72.

Cut bread loaf weights by 10 per cent.

Restrict use of grain in production of alcoholic beverages.

When the O.P.A. died June 30, the Agriculture Department immediately stopped purchasing meat and wheat for foreign relief.

The withdrawal was due in part to the desire not to add to demand at a time when there were no ceilings, and in part to not knowing whether foreign governments would pay the higher costs.

In a special report yesterday, the department said the indicated corn crop, based on July 19 prospects, would total 3,487,976,000 bushels. The present record was set in 1944 when 3,228,000,000 bushels were produced.

The wheat crop is expected to hit a new top of 1,132,075,000 bushels compared with a record 1945 output of 1,123,143,000 bushels.

On the basis of prospects two weeks ago, the figure meant an indicated improvement in the corn crop of about 146,000,000 bushels and of 42,000,000 in wheat.

With O.P.A.'s future still uncertain, the Agriculture Department official said no decisions had been reached on relief buying. He added:

"However, if price controls go back on grain within the next few weeks, the set-aside (for government buying) probably will be reinstated and the government will pay up to the ceiling price even though it is higher than what existed June 30."

Lucas and Albright Held for Jury on Burglary Charge

Two Are Charged With Ripping Up Flooring, Taking Cash From Tavern Below

Eugene Lucas, 23, of 179 Abeel street, and Harry Albright, 34, of 52 Ravine street, charged with burglary in the third degree, waived examination, and were held to await the action of the grand jury when arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court today.

Lucas was arrested by Detectives Wesley Cramer and Clarence Brophy. Albright surrendered to the police at headquarters in the city hall, his attorney, Elmor Nathan said, and was placed under arrest by Patrolman Lemuel Howard, who was on duty there.

According to the police the two men are charged with ripping up the flooring in the Lucas apartment on Abeel street, thus gaining entrance to the tavern of Willis Emmick on the ground floor of the building.

The men are accused by the police with stealing $16 from the cash register in the tavern.

Attorney Raymond J. Mino represented the district attorney's office today, while Attorney Elmor Nathan appeared for Lucas and Albright.

Taxi Driver Robbed, Assaulted by Passenger

New York, July 23 (AP)—Francis Meehan, a taxi driver of 1717 Bryant avenue, the Bronx, was assaulted and robbed of $12 today by a passenger in his cab at Leland and Lacombe avenues, the Bronx, police of the Westchester precinct reported.

Meehan told police he picked up the passenger at 174th street and Metcalf avenue and was directed to drive to Leland and Lacombe avenues, about a mile and a half away. At the latter location, the passenger pointed a gun at him, Meehan said, ordered him to hand over his money, kicked him in the stomach and then fled in a black sedan with another man.

Women Against O.P.A.

New York, July 23 (AP)—The New York League of Women Shoppers, in a telegram sent today to President Truman, urged him to veto the O.P.A. renewal bill, and to keep Congress in session until it has passed price legislation which "you can sign in good conscience." The telegram was signed by Nessa Feldman, vice president of the New York League.

Jean Bates Says Freeman, Garsson Asked She Be Hazy

Says Combine Officials Tried to Play Upon Her Sympathy in Matter

Washington, July 23 (AP)—Red-haired Jean Bates, former secretary in the Washington office of a munitions combine, said today that Joseph Freeman and Henry Garsson had asked her to be "hazy" in testifying before the Senate War Investigating Committee.

She testified that Freeman and Garsson, officials in the combine, had attempted to "play upon my sympathy" when she met their request with a refusal to "perjure myself."

They were particularly anxious, she said, to prevent her from telling the committee, under oath, that she had seen Albert Jacobson, $9,975-a-year War Department consultant, in the combine's Washington office.

The conversation with her former employers, she related, took place on July 12—the same day she appeared before an executive session of the committee to tell what she knew about the affairs of the combine.

She said that Mrs. Freeman had called her away from her brother's birthday party to the Freeman home where she met both Freeman and Garsson.

They asked her first what she had told the committee in private session, she said, and then quickly got to the point of Jacobson.

Judge Samuel Dickstein of the New York Supreme Court testified that it was possible that he had called the Washington office of the combine, but only on a social matter.

Dickstein formerly was chairman of the House Immigration Committee. He said he had no recollection of having talked to Murray Garsson, one of the promoters of Erie and associated companies now under war profits investigation, but added that he "may have talked to Joe Freeman." Joseph Freeman was Washington representative of Erie.

"He wanted me to get him some tickets to a theatre or something," Dickstein recalled. "I may have received such a call but that's about all."

Dickstein said that he had known Murray Garsson since 1931 while the latter was an investigator for the Department of Labor, but declared that he had never had any business or official relations with him at any time. He added that he knew Henry M. Garsson "slightly" but knew nothing about the business affairs of either of the brothers.

Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.) asked about a series of telephone calls which he said had been made in the summer of 1942 between the Washington office of the munitions firm and Dickstein's office in New York. One of the calls was collect from Dickstein, he said, to Murray Garsson or Joe Freeman.

"I don't remember what it was," Dickstein replied. "I don't remember that I actually spoke to them."

The committee meanwhile held out to Rep. May (D.-Ky.) an offer to meet "morning, noon or night" so he may testify without interference with his duties as a legislator.

Tree Fork Imprisons Automobile

An unusual accident occurred near the LeFevre property on Route 32 Monday night. An automobile from the Holland House, Tillson, en route to Kingston with six passengers, was caught in the fork of a large tree which had been loosened by the rain and fell as the car was passing. (Freeman Photo)

Six Escape Injury When Big Tree Falls on Highway

Six people escaped serious injury last evening when a car in which they were riding struck a tree which was falling in the path of the approaching car at Bloomington. The car came to rest in the path of the tree.

According to a report made by County Investigator Clayton W. Vredenburgh and Deputy Sheriff Ellsworth, who were summoned by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation after that company had been notified of the fallen tree, the car of George Tsontarides of 1156 Stely avenue, Bronx, was proceeding from the Holland House at Tillson to Kingston during the heavy rain Monday evening. Near the C. I. LeFevre place on Route 32 the tree started to fall 75 yards in front of the car. Unable to stop on the wet pavement the car struck the obstruction but only one of the passengers, Henry L. Meigel of Tillson was injured. He suffered a slight bruise on the forehead.

Others in the car, according to the report, were Richard Craig of 509 27th street, New York; Catherine Spilirtis of the same address and Mary and Dorothy Makois of 509 West 176th street, New York.

Word of the accident was sent to the sheriff's office at 9:18 o'clock and the two officers responded and directed traffic which was detoured for some time through Creeks Locks and Le Fever Falls until the obstruction was removed.

The front of the car was damaged and the top was dented.

Husbands Expelled

Frankfurt, Germany, July 23 (AP)—Three American civilians have been expelled from occupied Germany for marrying German girls in violation of the U. S. Army's ban on German-American weddings, army officials said today. Army records identified the expelled civilians as Charles Quatt, 30, of Patterson, N. J., Philip Haenze, 24, of Pittsburgh, and Ralph E. Hudspeth, whose home town was not listed here. They took War Department jobs in Germany to be with their wives after release from the army.

Three Men Are Held In Sullivan County

Monticello, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Three men were held in Sullivan county jail today awaiting grand jury action after they were arraigned last night on charges of grand larceny in connection with the disappearance of two safes containing an estimated $50,000 in cash and jewels from the Congress Hotel at Sackett Lake, N. Y.

The men are George Gula, 24; his brother, Walter Gula, 32, and Frank Leotta, 32, all of New York city.

Acting Captain Raymond Maguire of the New York city police safe and loft squad said the men were arrested by state troopers early yesterday after an automobile chase through a heavy fog.

Hanley Is Found In Bad Condition

Former Serviceman Taken Without Resistance at Norristown

Kenneth Hanley stumbled into his home at 7:15 a. m., forced by heavy rains from nearby Six Boys woods where posses had sought him after finding his abandoned automobile nearby.

A relative summoned police. Officers James Burns and Patrick O'Hara found Hanley drinking coffee in the kitchen. He was taken to a hospital.

Canton Mayor Is Garbage Collector During Job Halt

Leaders of Striking C.I.O. Public Workers Say Klein Is Labeled Strike-Breaker

Canton, O., July 23 (AP)—This city's $6,500-a-year chief executive was prepared to don work clothes again today and help dispose of a week's uncollected garbage—the aftermath of a strike by city service department workers.

Mayor Carl F. Klein amazed the strikers and townspeople yesterday when he helped load the first two truckloads collected since the men walked off their jobs.

The 47-year-old mayor perspired as he hoisted heavy cans to the trucks and even carried cans up from the basement of a restaurant.

"I've done harder work," he told reporters later at city hall. "The Board of Health, in declaring an emergency, has ordered the city to collect the garbage," he said. "That's what we're going to do."

The mayor, re-elected to a second term last year with strong labor support in this city of more than 100,000, acted swiftly after the unionists rejected his proposal calling for the strike's end while a study was made to determine if the city could meet the workers' demand for a 10½ cents hourly wage increase. They now get 83 cents an hour.

Leaders of the striking local of the C.I.O. United Public Workers of America issued a statement charging the mayor with being a strikebreaker.

"The mayor's attempt to break the strike of municipal employes proved a dismal flop," said a statement released by Anthony Vetrone, union international representative.

President Expected to 'Go Along'

Porter Tells Truman Compromise Better Than Bill President Vetoed

Showdown Is Set

Debate in Both Houses Might Cause Delay in Passage

Washington, July 23 (AP)—O.P.A., dead for 23 days, may be born again before midnight.

Administration leaders drove hard to get the House and Senate okays that would put the compromise legislation on President Truman's desk by nightfall. The Presidents' signature then could restore trimmed down price control and full rent authority immediately.

Chairman Spence (D.-Ky.) of the House Banking Committee, a leader of the administration's bitter O.P.A. battle, told reporters "we hope to have price control again by midnight."

Capitol Hill felt certain Mr. Truman would sign the measure even though he vetoed the first Congressional attempt to trim O.P.A.'s powers and the new compromise bans price ceilings on major foods for at least 30 days.

Any Congressional concern about another veto was virtually dispelled late yesterday when Paul Porter, O.P.A. administrator, disclosed to newsmen that he had told the President the compromise is better than the bill Mr. Truman refused to sign in June.

If O.P.A. is reborn, the agency must determine immediately at what levels prices are to be enforced pending full computation of the new and in many cases higher prices called for under the bill. These need not be announced for 30 days.

Showdown votes were set today, first in the House and then in the Senate.

The House was expected to act quickly, but there was some possibility Senate foes of the price agency might want to do a lot of talking in advance of a vote in that chamber.

Taft Would Support Bill

However Senator Taft (R-Ohio) announced he would support the compromise. It was his pricing amendment in the vetoed bill that provoked the sharpest presidential criticism of that measure. The price formula later was modified.

Some debate appeared likely in the House. Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), a member of the 14-man Senate-House Conference Committee which wrote the compromise bill, refused to support it. He voiced fears that some dairymen and other food products might refuse to submit to further controls. And he said there was danger of a "famine" in meats and other foods because of uncertainties in the bill whether controls ever will be restored on these items.

The conference committee, after six days of wrangling, finally okayed the compromise yesterday. It gives O.P.A. a one year lease on life under rules requiring higher prices for many manufactured items and banning ceilings on meat, poultry, milk, eggs, cheese, grains and other basic foods before August 20—if at all.

To Create Board

A three-member control board would be created to determine by that date whether the price lid should be clamped back on those foods. The board also would have authority to tell O.P.A. to lift ceilings on any products it thought warranted such action.

The measure provides for restoration of controls immediately on manufactured goods and foods not specifically exempt.

Authority to control residential rent is renewed in full. The O.P.A. can roll back any rent hikes made by landloards since June 30.

Meanwhile, the White House released without comment from the President a Commerce Department report saying that prices have jumped sharply since O.P.A. died.

The report cited a 25 per cent increase in the daily spot market index for 28 basic commodities in the first 16 days of July.

The statement said the fact that subsidies expired with O.P.A. was a factor in the higher prices, but it added that "the actual increases x x x have generally been greater than the former subsidy

Atomic Energy Commission Members To Discuss Development of Authority

New York, July 23 (AP)—Delegates to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission will begin discussions tomorrow of the key proposal in the United States atomic control plan—creation of an atomic development authority.

Although this proposal already has been discussed both formally and informally, the delegates have now reached the stage where they intend to seek a yes or no decision on the broad question of principle involved.

The discussions will take place in a closed meeting of Committee No. 2, which has been set up to make specific recommendations to the Atomic Commission on questions of control. Other committees are considering problems such as development of atomic energy for peaceful uses and complex legal issues such as the veto.

At the initial meeting of Committee No. 2 last Wednesday, it was decided to dispose of the general question of whether to create an atomic development authority before discussing Soviet Russia's proposal for an international convention outlawing the production and use of atomic weapons.

Although at least 10 of the 12 delegates already have expressed approval of the U. S. plan in principle, some of them expressed belief that the discussions might be prolonged by Russian opposition.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko indicated last week that he would speak tomorrow on the lengthy U. S. memorandum dealing with the question of relations between the atomic development authority and the organs of the United Nations.

This memorandum not only goes into the whole question of what powers the authority should have and how its regulations should be enforced, but also proposed that the five permanent members of the Security Council should agree by treaty to give up their veto rights on atomic matters.

In view of his previous statements, Gromyko was expected to take sharp issue with several of the U. S. proposals, particularly the suggestions regarding the veto and the enforcement of atomic regulations.

This may spark another lengthy debate.

Another factor which may prolong the discussions is a new U. S. memorandum, which probably will be submitted next week, outlining the timetable under which the different stages of the control plan would go into effect.

With these issues coming up for debate, the atomic control problem continued to overshadow the Security Council. The council meets tomorrow afternoon, but it appeared the session would be confined to routine matters.

Other U. N. developments:

The international health conference, called by the U. N. Economic and Social Council, completed a month's work and signed a newly finished constitution for a world health organization.

The U. N. announced that it had received no objections to a proposal to postpone the meeting of the General Assembly from September 3 to September 23 to prevent an overlap of the Paris Peace Conference. As a result, the assembly meeting has been postponed definitely until September 23.

The U. N. also announced that its statistical division would take over the activities and most of the staff of the economic, financial and transit department of the League of Nations August 1.

Good Weather Is Forecast For Second Test of A-Bomb

Aboard the U.S.S. Mt. McKinley, July 23 (AP)—Good weather was forecast today for Thursday (Wednesday, U. S. time) when the first atomic bomb ever touched off below water subjects 75 ships to man-made pressures heretofore undreamed of on earth.

As an "intertropical front" moved off 100 miles to the south, carrying with it the clouds that have hung heavily over Bikini, scientists made up a pool and guessed how many of those 75 ships will perish in the lagoon.

Associate Press Science Writer Howard Blakeslee reported from the Appalachian that these guesses were not being given out but one scientist said the shock would be 100 times greater than that from the air blast July 1.

The scientists were divided, Blakeslee added, on how much of the bomb's awesome power will go into water and how much into the air.

The guesses ranged from 50 percent of the power entering the water to possibly 90 percent of the total nuclear energy released. If the latter figure proves correct the damage to target ships should be terrific.

Dr. R. A. Sawyer, chief of the scientific staff, said there probably would be no flash of light visible in daylight from the underwater burst, and no goggles would be needed.

Instead, he continued, a dome of water half a mile wide should rise above the explosion. The dome would be pierced by a water spout going up two or three miles high.

Forecasters believed that "operational weather" would be on hand for the test Thursday. A broken cloud cover will allow the detonation to be carried out on schedule.

Bomb testers do not need the almost perfect conditions required for the air drop but they do demand winds up to 20,000 feet blowing from the east to carry away contaminated spray or rain.

A reasonably clear spot in the sky also is needed to allow a photographic recording of the explosion and weather good enough for aircraft operation.

It was disclosed that four men were exposed to radioactivity from two to four times beyond the safety limit in the first test but all are recovering. One was exposed in a plane which drew too near the atomic cloud, another was exposed on the Japanese cruiser Sakawa and two others stayed too long on radio active ships.

Editors Return, Ask U.S. Keep Troops Abroad Several Years

Washington, July 23 (AP) — A group of American newspaper editors returned Monday after a month's tour of Europe and generally expressed the view the United States must keep an adequate occupation force in Europe for some time.

Members of the party arriving at national airport said that redeployment hampered United States authorities in their job of teaching democratic ideals to the Germans.

"Most of our occupation forces are young men between the ages of 18 and 20," said Herbert F. Corn, managing editor of the Washington Star. "It's hard for men that young to do the job of persuading the Germans Nazism is wrong and democratic principles are right. It's a terific job for the boys."

Corn and John C. Oesreicher, foreign editor, International News Service, said that despite these handicaps American occupation authorities in Germany and in Vienna were "doing a fine job."

Roy W. Howard, president of Scripps-Howard newspapers, observed that Europe's economic recovery would delay "until France and Russia are willing to join Britain and the United States in bringing about unification" of the four occupation zones.

"The American public has a stake in this," Howard said, "because as long as Germany fails to reach a position where she can sustain herself economically, the American taxpayer is going to have to foot the bill involved in preventing starvation and avoiding political and economic chaos.

The editors, guests of Secretary of War Patterson at lunch, also included Arthur Hays Sulzberger, president-publisher of the New York Times; Lyle Wilson, Washington bureau manager of the United Press; W. F. Christenson, editor of the Omaha World Herald; Ed Hilman, editor of the Houston Post; W. S. Gilmore, editor of the Detroit News; J. D. Ferguson, president and editor of the Milwaukee Journal; Lee Mills, managing editor of the Miami Herald, and Hugh Robertson, editor-in-chief of the Macy Westchester papers.

A twelfth member of the party, Ludwell Denny, editorial writer for Scripps-Howard papers, remained in Europe.

A.L.P. Says O'Dwyer Has Not Made Break

New York, July 23 (AP)—Leaders of the American Labor Party declared today that the new O'Dwyer-Liberal Party alignment did not mean that the New York city mayor was breaking with the A.L.P., which supported him in the 1945 municipal elections.

The A.L.P. declarations came after leaders of the Liberal Party announced they had joined with O'Dwyer, whom they opposed on last year's mayoralty fight, in mapping a new alignment of "truly liberal political forces."

Eugene V. Connolly declared in a statement on behalf of the New York county organization of the A.L.P. that "the relations between Mayor O'Dwyer and the A.L.P. are excellent."

"There is not a scrap of truth to the statement that the mayor is veering away from the American Labor Party," he added, a statement which A.L.P. leaders said came from the Liberal group.

The former Liberal Party alliance was announced yesterday by Dean Alfange and Harry M. Brandt, members of the Liberal Party's administrative committee, who said they had discussed with the mayor "a long term plan for the union and cooperation of all truly Liberal political forces in the city and state to the end that the Roosevelt tradition might be preserved and carried forward."

The O'Dwyer administration also had received endorsement over the week-end from Alex Rose, Liberal Party vice-chairman, who said he came away from a dinner meeting with the mayor "very much impressed by Mayor O'Dwyer's determination to give the city a clean and progressive administration."

The Liberals were ranged with the Republicans last year in support of General Sessions Judge Jonah J. Goldstein for mayor.

In 1944, more than 800,000,000 pounds of paraffin were extracted and refined from petroleum.

U. S. Halts Flights Over Yugoslav Areas

Belgrade, July 23 (AP)—All American military flights into Yugoslavia have been canceled —probably for at least a month—as a result of a new Yugoslav ruling requiring Vienna-to-Belgrade planes to fly on a new course taking them over Hungarian soil, thus necessitating Russian clearances.

The cancellation was disclosed by a U. S. Embassy source, which said the new order requires that all American planes fly from Vienna to Belgrade via Subotica, Yugoslavia. A straight-line flight from Vienna to Subotica would cross approximately 165 miles of Hungarian territory and would involve negotiations with Russian authorities for clearances.

Attorneys Plan Heirens' Meeting

State Will Go Before Grand Jury, Ask Indictment

Chicago, July 23 (AP)—Attorneys for William Heirens arranged another conference with the 17-year-old college student today as the state went ahead with plans to go before the grand jury and seek his indictment in the kidnap-killing of Suzanne Degnan.

Although Chicago newspapers for the last week have said Heirens would make a formal written confession of the slayings of the six-year-old Degnan child and of two other slayings, there was no immediate indication from defense counsel that he would do so today.

Malachy Coghlan, one of the defense attorneys, said he and his associates had decided to question Heirens again today after a long conference with the youth and a meeting with his parents yesterday.

"We will take up matters pertaining to the pending burglary charges, as well as the murder cases, in which we anticipate indictments soon will be returned by the state," Coghlan said.

Heirens, held under $290,000 bond pending arraignment on 29 charges of burglary and assault, has not been charged with the Degnan crime or the other slayings. However, Chicago newspapers have said that he has orally admitted the slaying of Suzanne last January 7. They also have reported he told of the "lipstick" slaying of Francis Brown, 33-year-old former Wave, last December 10, and of the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Josephine Ross, 43-year-old widow, on June 5, 1945.

Meanwhile, State's Attorney William J. Tuohy did not disclose definitely when he would go before the grand jury. He said the case against Heirens would be presented "as soon as all possible circumstantial or direct evidence" has been obtained.

Police have announced that Heirens' finger prints have been matched with prints found in investigation of the Degnan and Brown cases.

3 Children, Man Hurt in Crashes Monday Afternoon

Three children and a man were injured Monday afternoon in automobile collisions at street intersections in the city, according to police reports.

The three children were David Beehler, 7, scalp injuries, Elizabeth Beehler, 10½ years, injured elbow and concussion, and Allen Beehler, 4, concussion. All three were treated by Dr. Fred Carr.

The children were riding in the automobile driven by Florence L. Beehler of Connelly, which was in collision with the auto operated by Norman E. Tierney of 36 Smith avenue, at 3:35 o'clock at the intersection of Fair and Henry street.

Bennett Injured

Edward Bennett, 46, of 18½ East St. James street, suffered a cut on the forehead and a bruised leg, when the auto he was driving was in collision with the car of Etta B. Russell of Lakewood, N. J., at the intersection of O'Neil street and Ten Broeck avenue at 2:30 o'clock. He was treated at the Kingston Hospital.

Cars Damaged

Another auto crash at 6 p. m. was reported to the police in which both vehicles were damaged, but no personal injuries recorded. John W. MacConnell of 261 Smith avenue was driving one of the Craft Super Market delivery trucks on Garden street, and at the intersection of Prince street collided with an auto driven by William A. Boyle of 165 Highland avenue, who was driving over Prince street.

One-Armed Golfer Posts 74 in Tourney

Chicago, July 23 (AP)—Prospero Gianvito, a one-armed golfer from Columbus, O., posted a 74 to place ninth among the 20 amateurs who qualified at Tam O'Shanter Country Club yesterday for the All-American tournament which starts Thursday.

Gianvito's performance was regarded by golf fans as one of the most unusual in the qualifying test, which saw Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion and golfing enthusiast, fail to make the grade.

The right armed Columbus shooter, with cards of 38-36—74, was only seven strokes off the pacemaker, Earl Stewart of Dallas, Tex.

Louis was nine over par for 81.

Labor Difficulties Beset New Race Track

Atlantic City, N. J., July 23 (AP)—Operators of the New Atlantic City race track, exhilarated by an opening day crowd of 28,000 persons who bet $1,381,522, quietly were concerned today about labor difficulties on two fronts.

One situation, concerning payment of bonuses to exercise boys, grooms and blacksmiths, was expected to come to a head tomorrow. The other, a parimutuel employes union jurisdictional fight, was ready to flare at any moment.

Four Bodies Cut Down From Posts As Woman Insists

Bolivian Officials Take Steps to Round Up Remnants of Supporters

La Paz, Bolivia, July 23 (AP)—At the insistence of a woman civic leader, the bodies of President Gualberto Villarroel and three of his lieutenants were cut down from lampposts during the night and taken to a morgue today to await burial "as Christians."

The bodies had been hanging in front of the Presidential Palace for more than 24 hours, where they were viewed by thousands of persons. Villarroel and his aides were killed Sunday at the conclusion of a four-day revolution which resulted in 2,000 casualties.

Maria Teresa Solari, chairman of the Women's Civic Union, demanded that the bodies be removed, despite the fact that she had opposed Villarroel's "strong man" regime since 1944.

Meanwhile, the new civilian government moved swiftly to round up the remnants of Villarroel's supporters, and jailed a number of military leaders and members of the secret police.

Funeral services for slain revolutionists will be held starting at 10 o'clock this morning.

Leaders of the new government announced that local authorities had been ousted without bloodshed by revolutionists in Cochabamba, Santa Cruz and Oruro, and that new officials were being elected.

Lt. Col. Victor Alarcon, newly appointed commander of the La Paz military region, directed all units of the Bolivian army to obey the provisional government, which is composed of university students and professors, labor revolutionists and some jurists.

Nestor Guillden, dean of the La Paz Superior Court, is acting president but has promised to step down as soon as the principal figure in the rebellion, Tomas Monje Gutierrez, president of the Superior Court, recovers from an illness.

The new government informed communications companies operating in Bolivia that there would be no restrictions on domestic or international dispatches, and no censorship.

A communique on national policy said the revolutionists would fulfill international commitments and would call national elections.

Engineers to Ask Early Bids for F.D.R. Hospital

Washington, July 23 (AP)—The army engineers expect to ask for bids early in the fall on construction of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Hospital at Peekskill, N. Y., for war veterans.

Named for the late president, the hospital will be among the first to be built by the army engineers for the Veterans Administration. It will have 1,984 beds for neuro-psychiatric patients.

Several months ago the Veterans Administration rejected bids on this hospital because they exceeded the $8,000,000 appropriated for it by Congress. It was then planned to have only 1,492 beds.

Plans for the larger hospital now are being handled by the army engineers who have been asked by the Veterans Administration to take over hospital construction. Funds for it will come from the administration's $473,000,000 construction fund.

Under a new policy, Congress now is making lump sum appropriations for veterans hospitals without saying how much is to be spent on each. This was done because of increasing building costs, a Veterans official explained today.

Coast Guard Searches For Missing Yawl

Boston, July 23 (AP) — Coast Guard air sea rescue service today continued its search for the 41-foot yawl Osprey, unreported since it left Bar Harbor, Me., July 16 with owner William Eddison of New York and two friends.

The Coast Guard said the yawl, with an auxiliary power plant, which was bound for City Island, N. Y., via the Cape Cod canal but had not gone through the canal, had probably taken refuge in some cove along the coast to await lifting of fog that has settled offshore for three or four days.

It added that the vessel was not in danger because the sea was calm.

New York relatives of the skipper asked the Coast Guard to check when no word of the vessel was received, it said.

RACKETS

It is difficult for normal, honest people to believe that there are other people in the world who would deliberately gyp a serviceman out of his final pay, take a worker's life's savings, or lie in wait for a man or woman who draws money from a savings account to pay taxes and get the money away by some shady scheme. But unfortunately the world is full of such racketeers, and it seems fuller than usual in these days when there are bonds in the box and a little more ready cash than usual in the jeans.

There are the people who sell fake Canadian gold mine stocks. There are chain letter promotion schemes. It seems as if every citizen must know about the idiocy of these promotions, but new and trusting suckers come to light all the time.

There are rackets in home repairs. There are fake C.O.D. packages containing cheap souvenirs of paper and rags. There are "coal savers," phony magazine subscriptions and other fakes too numerous to mention.

The warning is plain. Don't buy any lots or oil royalties or stocks without consulting your banker or the nearest Better Business Bureau. Don't pay for anything C.O.D. at the door unless you ordered it yourself. Don't pay for anything supposed to have been ordered by your son who fell in battle. Don't give any stranger your money to hold.

In other words, act like an adult who knows there is no such thing as getting rich quick. Earn your salt and save your sugar and when you need to buy a home or invest for your old age, let your banker help you. Earning and saving that money was not easy. Don't throw it away.

The pending Foreign Service bill would raise the salaries of ambassadors for the first time in 90 years. That doesn't seem too hasty, considering the daily inflation.

FOREIGN SERVICE

The United States foreign service will have a general overhauling if a bill now before the House Foreign Affairs Committee is passed by Congress.

The bill provides for the raising of salaries for ambassadors and ministers for the first time in 90 years. Expenses which accompany the high positions are so great that for years a man without a private source of income has not been able to afford to represent the United States at one of the more important diplomatic posts—a situation hardly consistent with democracy. In contrast, the British ambassador in Washington at present receives more than twice the amount paid the American ambassador in London.

Also included in the bill are provisions for salary raises for foreign service officers all down the line, a new promotion and retirement system intended to make it possible for men to advance faster on merit, and more frequent leaves and assignments in this country to keep the corps in closer touch with United States policies. An institute would be established for intensive training.

This bill is worthy of study and general approval. At a time when the country's foreign service has more difficult tasks and greater responsibilities than ever before, it is important that the service be organized to function as effectively as possible.

Lollipops and ice cream cones are caught in the inflation. Even the kids are finding that a nickel just isn't worth a nickel any more.

VETERANS MAKING GOOD

War service seems to improve scholarship. Typical of reports from many other institutions is one from Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa., about student veterans, originally dropped for unsatisfactory work. Given a second chance in token of their military service, they make as good, and often markedly better grades than other students in their classes. Seven out of eight had passed all courses but one, making an average for this second-trial group of 78. Not only veterans who were former failures, but all returning veterans have made better grades than they made in prewar days.

This is, after all, not so remarkable. These boys have matured, have been through experiences that make book learning something more than theory for them. The G.I. Bill of educational rights is going to be justified many times its cost.

Summer resorts which are not crowded say that scare stories about crowded hotels and cabins are keeping the customers away. You can't win.

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

NEWS FROM NOWHERE

China is the orphan of the war. Fighting longest and undoubtedly at the largest cost in life, China remains, what she has been for half a century, a country in turmoil, in confusion, without genuine governmental authority. Even the Foreign Ministers at Paris treated China contemptuously by rejecting her as a sponsor for the forthcoming Peace Conference. China simply does not count.

It might have been different had the United States recognized all of China's possibilities as an ally. And one does not look too closely at allies as long as they play the game, for if China has its Soongs, we have our Garssons. But the United States, in a manner, betrayed China. At the secret Singapore Conference, prior to our entry into the war, the United States agreed that in the event of a victory, Hongkong was to be returned to Great Britain. At the Yalta Conference, Franklin D. Roosevelt agreed to give to Soviet Russia the railroads of Manchuria, Port Arthur and Dairen, which practically means that Soviet Russia and not China succeeded to Japan's rights and claims in Manchuria, where Russia has not even the justification, small as it was, that Japan had. Yalta is one of the meanest, the most cynical betrayals in history.

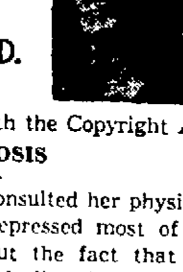

To top that, instead of fully supporting the government that was our ally in war, that we had recognized and with which we have treaties, the United States has been parleying with Communistic rebels, a Fifth Column of Soviet Russia in that country. And when General Pat Hurley was our ambassador to China, he uncovered our chicanery and the fact that the State Department was pursuing intrigue rather than policy, trickery rather than principle, he was thrown to the wolves of Left-Wing propaganda. Then General Marshall was sent to China as a sort of honest broker between a recognized government and the rebels against it, as though the rebels could have any status with us. And now, instead of appointing General Wedemeyer our ambassador to China, as planned and rumored, Mr. Truman surprisingly appoints the aged and pollyannish Dr. Leighton Stuart, a missionary educator with an astounding ability at fund raising and for agreeing with everybody. Dr. Stuart knows Chinese personalities but it is doubtful if by training and habit of mind he is capable of understanding China's role in world affairs.

General Wedemeyer has been in the thick of China at war; Dr. Stuart, in the nearly three decades that I have observed him in China, never adopted a positive stand on any issue requiring positiveness. Of course, he is popular with all factions as all are who have no positive position on anything. He is a nice man, if you know what I mean. At this moment, the United States needs strength in China; it sends as ambassador an excellent public relations counsel.

And so we move along, weakly, uncertainly, fearful to antagonize the Russians, insistent upon maintaining the British Empire, more worried by the corruptions of the Soongs than we are by the prospects of establishing a sufficiently strong government in China so that our policies and purposes and trade in China can be made to count for something in our interest. Or do we have an interest? By the look of it, one would imagine that American diplomacy has become a sort of game of parchesi.

There is this that Chiang Kai-shek probably thinks about from time to time: he could at any time between 1931 and 1945 have made a deal with the Japanese which would have given China generally and his government in particular a better deal than China has today. I know this is so because in 1930-31, Baron Shidehara, then Japanese Minister, discussed such terms with me and in every respect his terms were superior to China's estate today. Chiang Kai-shek could have betrayed us and aided the Japanese during the war. He remained true to his obligations to us and was betrayed by Mr. Roosevelt at Yalta. He must wonder what kind of people he is dealing with. We ought to wonder what will happen to the balance in Asia, if Chiang Kai-shek can take no more of it and quits.

TUBERCULOSIS

A young woman student consulted her physician because she felt tired and depressed most of the time. Questioning brought out the fact that she was undergoing an emotional disturbance which together with low blood pressure, and a slight decrease from normal of the iron in the blood was all the physical findings obtained by the physician. The temperature and pulse were "about" normal. A routine X-ray of the chests of the students of the school attended by this patient revealed a slight yet active tuberculosis of the lungs.

For years many of us have been thinking of tuberculosis as a disease with severe coughing, bringing up thick sputum, great loss of weight, and complete exhaustion occurring in children and young adults. As a matter of fact we learn from the National Tubercuosis Association that "tuberculosis should be suspected at any age, in any occupation and with any type of social or economic background."

In the New England Journal of Medicine, Boston, Drs. I. D. Bobrowitz, and R. E. Dwork, report their studies, made on 200 patients who were admitted to the sanatorium with little or no real signs or symptoms but tuberculosis was suspected. It was found that positive contact with patients with tuberculosis occurred in only 34 per cent of patients with minimal (slight) tuberculosis had symptoms. As these cases have been said to be without any symptoms this information is of much value to physicians and the public generally. Minimal tuberculosis is therefore often taken to be some other ailment—thin blood, infected teeth, a "run down" condition. Thus the old or former methods of examination by listening to sounds in the chest are not reliable as only 29 per cent of these 200 cases had the chest sounds of tuberculosis. The tuberculosis germs—tubercle bacille—were found in only 21 percent of the cases.

How was tuberculosis found in these cases with little or no symptoms?

There is only one reliable method of discovering minimal tuberculosis, this is by the X-ray. Films should be made in every case where tuberculosis is suspected.

Veterans' Memorial

July 19, 1946
307 Wall street
Kingston, New York

Editor, the Freeman

I have read with interest, the latest report submitted by Col. Ernest A. Steuding, chairman of World War II Memorial Committee, with regard to the decided lack of interest as displayed by the citizens of Kingston in the current all out drive to secure funds for a suitable memorial for the veterans of the past conflict.

The concerted drive has entered it's fifth month and to date has reached the $3,189 figure which is far below the expectations of the active committee who are working so vigourusly to obtain the quota figure of $25,000.

I heartily believe that our citizens have not in the least forgotten the deeds of valor and sacrifice that our local boys performed on the fields of battle either in the European theatre or the far reaching isles of the Pacific. Contrary to that belief, I feel assured that our residents are indeed proud of their exploits. We cannot measure feelings in the sense of dollars and cents. The memory of our buddies that lie under white wooden crosses on foreign soil was never measured in that vein. Those hard fighting buddies who have answered the final call and made the supreme sacrifice will ever remain indelible on the minds of those men who so gallantly served with them.

It is true, that to the returning veterans there is a feeling of complete disillusionment to return home to their native land to find strike in progress, a housing shortage as well as lack of harmony in the governmental structure of our great country. All these acts in short determined the low morale factor of the returning G. I. Although this subject hasn't the lest bearing on the subject of the drive for the memorial, I though that perhaps it will tend in the process of readjusting their lives.

Relative to the sincere drive now entering the final months to attain the ultimate goal of $25,000, I firmly think that the fraternal organizations as well as our populace will respond to this worthy cause.

As Colonel Steuding has stated, the final amount of subscription will decide the type of memorial. I, myself feel that we should all put forth our very best efforts to insure an outstanding success of this venture.

Regardless of the type of memorial, it will act as a constant reminder that our local boys have not died in vain, but rather have exemplified their bravery for the coveted ideals of liberty of a freedom loving people.

Let us all do our part! We can with cooperation!

Kingston will never forget!
Send your subscription today!

Respectfully submitted.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Second Blooms or Seeds From Delphiniums?

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

FRESH seed from good strains is of the utmost importance in growing delphiniums. Fully ripened seeds germinate better than partly-ripened ones. Soaking the seeds seems to give a more uniform germination.

When saving seeds from your own delphinium plants, do not allow all the seed pods to mature. Decide early how many you require and cut off the rest, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. This gives more nourishment to the remaining pods, forming stronger seeds.

Delphiniums will frequently bloom a second time if they are prevented from forming seed pods. When the main flower spike begins to fade, cut it away, as illustrated. This allows the plant's energy to go into the remaining lateral blooms instead of into seed. As the upper laterals fade, cut them away, leaving only the lower ones to bloom.

When the whole flower has faded, cut it back to about one foot from the ground. Plug the open end with wax or chewing gum to prevent insects and rain from getting into the stalk, causing rot or other damage.

Allow the plant to rest a week or 10 days. Then water and fertilise well for second bloom during late August and September.

Delphiniums thrive in any ordinary garden soil which is well drained, yet does not suffer from dryness. If the soil is soggy, artificial drainage should be provided.

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb was appointed to serve as the first superintendent of the newly constructed TB Hospital on the Boulevard at a meeting of the board of managers in October, 1931, while Dr. Fred H. Voss was named as assistant superintendent.

The managers also named Christopher Snyder to act as business manager of the hospital, while Lillian B. Hagelweide was appointed head nurse. Her assistants were Catherine O'Brien, Mary E. Ryan and Ellarie Olewine.

The new hospital replaced the old TB Hospital on East Chester street, which later became known as Camp Happyland, and recently was sold.

In October, 1931, the Albany Avenue Baptist Church was holding a series of special meetings to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the founding of the church.

The Rev. Arthur S. Cole was pastor of the church that year. He first became pastor of the church in 1911, and served continuously until several years ago when he retired from the active ministry.

Beatrice S. Powley of this city was elected president of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union at the annual convention held in October, 1931, in the Reformed Church in Wallkill.

Other officers elected were LaVerne Powell of New Hurley and Walter Parker of New Paltz, vice presidents; Dora H. Pratt of Kingston, secretary; Milton P. Townsend of Kingston, treasurer, and the Rev. G. S. Wullschleger of New Paltz, pastoral councilor.

S. G. Krayem, the Strand dry goods merchant, on October 15, 1931, purchased the Hazen Block at 36-40 Broadway of the Max Hazen estate. He also purchased the former Philip Sampson residence at 24 Abeel street.

Mr. Krayem after taking possession renamed the Hazen Block the Krayem Block.

For years, prior to the purchase of the building by the late Max Hazen, it was known as the Kennedy Block, and if memory serves me right was first erected by former Mayor David Kennedy, for years a well known physician of this city, and manufacturer of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, which was a popular patent medicine in the Gay Nineties and the early 1900's.

Mr. Krayem several weeks ago sold the Krayem Block to George Medwin, who plans to use the entire building for a factory.

William H. Beck died in his home on Smith avenue on October 19, 1931. For 21 years he had been employed as foreman of the old American Cigar plant on Broadway, at Pine Grove avenue, and later in a similar capacity at the Van Slyke and Horton factory until he retired in 1914.

Mr. Beck for years had charge of the stripping department in the old cigar factory on Broadway, and when the factory was operating to capacity had several hundred persons under his supervision.

Pearl Harbor Report Is Considered Ingenious, States Factually, Offers Headings for Important Sections

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 23 — The American people are indebted to the special Senate and House Committee which investigated the Pearl Harbor disaster. Despite the impressions which the concluding part of the report seeks to establish, the headings of the document fix responsibility as plainly as if names had been called.

The report is ingeniously developed. It states factually what occurred and subdivides each important section with a heading. Future historians cannot fail to read those tell-tale headings, for each one states an impersonal conclusion out of which only one inference can be made—namely, that the persons who had the responsibility for each task and did not perform it efficiently are being blamed.

Thus there is language in the conclusion of the report itself, signed by the majority, which absolves certain individuals but there is no such evasiveness in the headings. Here, for instance, are some of the committee's own headings which subdivide the conclusions and recommendations of the report:

"Operational and intelligence work requires centralization of authority and clear-cut allocation of responsibility.

"Supervisory officials cannot safely take anything for granted in the alerting of subordinates.

"Any doubt as to whether outposts should be given information should always be resolved in favor of supplying the information.

"The delegation of authority or the issuance of orders entails the duty of inspection to determine that the official mandate is properly exercised.

"The implementation of official orders must be followed with closest supervision.

"The maintenance of alertness to responsibility must be insured through repetition.

"Complacency and procrastination are out of place where sudden and decisive action are of the essence.

"The coordination and proper evaluation of intelligence in times of stress must be insured by continuity of service and centralization of responsibility in competent officials.

"The unapproachable or superior attitude of officials is fatal; There should never be any hesitancy in asking for clarification of instructions or in seeking advice on matters that are in doubt.

"There is no substitute for imagination and resourcefulness on the part of supervisory and intelligence officials.

"Communications must be characterized by clarity, forthrightness, and appropriateness."

There are in all 25 of these headings. Particularly significant are Nos. 17, 23, 24 and 25. Here they are:

"An official who neglects to familiarize himself in detail with his organization should forfeit his responsibility.

"Superiors must at all times keep their subordinates adequately informed and, conversely, subordinates should keep their superiors informed.

"The administrative organization of any establishment must be designed to locate failures and to assess responsibility.

"In a well-balanced organization there is close correlation of responsibility and authority."

All that the historian of tomorrow needs to do is find out who, on December 7, 1941, was chief of staff of the army, chief of naval operations, and in command of subordinate positions in the War and Navy Departments and who was commander-in-chief of the army and navy and then read the main headings of the report on Pearl Harbor. He will find that Republicans and Democrats were unanimous about the headings but politeness, courtesy and deference caused the omission of the names of the personalities involved, in the case of the majority who signed the report, whereas the minority just named those responsible. It's really a unanimous report on what happened.

House, Senate Members Discuss Energy Controls

Washington, July 23 (AP)—House and Senate conferees went into a huddle today to try to compromise differences over domestic controls of atomic energy.

They hope to bring back to Congress later this week a measure somewhere between the Senate-passed McMahon plan and the extensively altered House version.

Despite the several score amendments tacked on by the House, chief stumbling blocks to an agreement involve the extent of military control over atomic energy development.

The Senate voted to vest all controls in a five-member civilian commission, with a military liaison committee consulting with the commission and a civilian-directed division of military application.

The House overwhelmingly ordered that at least one of the five commission members be a member of the armed forces and that the head of the division of military application also be in uniform.

House conferees told reporters they expect little difficulty getting together with the Senate on other changes, notably those affecting patents and the ownership of inventions, and directing the F.B.I. to check the loyalty of all persons engaged in atomic energy development or research.

At the War Department, meanwhile, the army air forces disclosed a research program aimed at harnessing nuclear energy to power airplanes. Details were withheld, but an announcement said enough progress has been made "so that we know that the project is not impractical."

Ryan Loses A.B.C. Post; Found Guilty On Dozen Charges

New York, July 23 (AP)—Philip F. Ryan of Mechanicville has been dismissed as executive officer of the Saratoga County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board after being found guilty by State Liquor Authority commissioners on 12 of 13 charges relating to his conduct in office.

The S.L.A. disclosed yesterday Ryan had been ordered ousted by five commissioners after a review of minutes of a hearing conducted by Deputy Commissioner George P. Butterly, Jr.

Patrick J. Keniry, attorney for Ryan, said in Mechanicville that he was "taking immediate steps to have the whole matter reviewed by the Supreme Court."

The S.L.A. said Ryan, 50-year-old World War 1 veteran, had held his $3,500 a year job for six years.

He was accused in five of the 13 charges of "directly or indirectly" soliciting a licensed person "to remove an automatic coin operated music box and replace it with one distributed or owned by a person or corporation with whom you are directly or indirectly interested or associated."

Ryan was found guilty on four of these five charges.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By ED CAMPBELL
(For Hal Boyle)

St. Ives, Cornwall, England, July 23 (AP)—

"Knill's commands and all obey,
"Lads and lassies haste away;
"Aunts and uncles, maids and wives,
"All are gay, at gay St. Ives."

The century old tune is being hummed around the sitting kitchens in this old Cornish settlement these days as the seamen, the fisherman and the tinners make ready for their fifth-year celebration of the Feast of St. James and the spending of another 44 pounds ($176) from Johannes Knill's legacy.

Knill, once mayor, constable and customs colector of the borough, created in his will a perpetual annuity so that from the year 1801 onward every fifth anniversary of the feast day should find "no tongue is mute or foot is till, but one and all are on the hill."

This year the feast day falls on July 25.

Early that morning the three great locks on the ancient iron chest holding Mister Knill's festival funds will be unfastened by the St. Ives mayor, customs collector and vicar, each of whom is the traditional keeper of one key.

Between 10 a. m. and noon, ten little girls, all under the age of ten and the daughters of seamen, fishermen or tinners, will report to the committee, each will receive a white hair ribbon and the sum of two schillings (40 cents) for which "to music furnished by the fiddler," they will dance for 15 minutes around a 50-foot granite pyramid erected to Knill's memory on Worvas Hill. After the dance, the children must recite the One Hundredth Psalm.

The fiddler will be paid one pound ($4) and two widows, 64 or older, will be given a pound each for supervising the dancing and certifying that the terms of the bequest have been carried out. Another pound must be spent for the girls' ribbons and a cockade for the fiddler's hat.

The St. Ives parent or parents who have reared to the age of ten or older the greatest number of children without parochial assistance will be given another five pounds of the day's expenditures.

Some wife, between the age of 26 and 36 who since last Dec. 31 has been deemed by the trustees to be "most worthy because of her duty and kindness to her parents or her friends" will be awarded another ten pounds ($40). Five pounds ($20) will be awarded the St. Ives woman deemed to be the best knitter of fishing nets and to the best packer or curer of fish.

Topping off the festival, the three trustees each accompanied by two guests, will spend the final ten pounds on a feast for themselves at a village tavern.

Some Papers Ignore Madame Sun's Charge

Shanghai, July 23 (AP)—Madame Sun Yat-Sen's statement charging that Chinese "reactionaries" are trying to foment war between the United States and Russia and urging cessation of U. S. military assistance to China was ignored today by some Chinese newspapers. Others published only excerpts.

Ta Kung Pao, rated as independent and liberal, published only the opening sentence of The Associated Press report on the statement. Foreign newspapers in Shanghai published it in full.

Madame Sun's statement declared that reactionaries in the Kuomintang were fanning the flames of civil war, hoping to "incite war between America and the U.S.S.R. and thus at last crush the Chinese Communists."

She urged that American troops be removed from China, that shipments of U. S. military supplies to the central government be halted, and that a coalition government be formed immediately.

Her statement was not expected to help arrest the swiftly spreading civil conflict.

The area of greatest conflict appeared to be in Kiangsu Province, on the north side of the great Yangtze river and not far from Shanghai and Nanking, both south of the river.

Fighting also was reported in Manchuria. Government newspapers said Communists were attacking in the Harbin area and along the Sungari river to the south.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police was organized in 1873, when it was known as the North West Mounted Police.

New York, July 22 (AP)—Sixty men, with a 260-foot to 600-foot drop into the Hudson river facing them if they slip, are painting the mammoth George Washington Bridge linking New York and New Jersey—a job which is expected to take four years.

Postponed during the war because of paint shortages, the job will cost $400,000.

HOME BUREAU

Many Prizes for Fair

The Homemaking Department of the Ulster County Fair is offering so many prizes that most any man, woman or child in the county should be able to find some class in which to display his own particular type of skill. There are even six prizes for that supremely useful skill of mending.

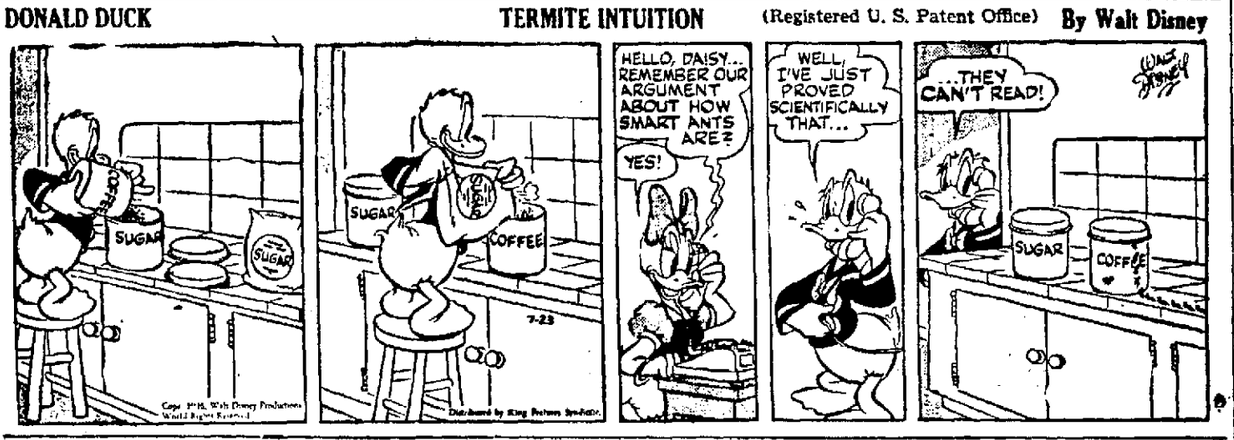

Such clothing as trousers, overalls, shirts, sweaters, socks, dresses, etc. and household goods as linens, sheets, curtains and so on are the two classes. A first prize of $2, a second prize of $1 and a third prize of 50 cents will be given away for each class. These days when really good clothes are still so scarce and expensive in the stores, lots of us are wondering if some of our favorite old garments couldn't be mended. Maybe you are the one to show us.

As for the remainder of the 241 prizes offered, here are the sections: Foods, canned goods and baked goods; furniture and furnishings; clothing; crafts and hobbies. This last section included crocheted and tatted articles, needlework, ceramics, photography and flower arrangement. A sweepstake prize of ten dollars will be given to the person who receives the largest number of prize points, provided she has won a prize in three of five sections. Send to the Home Bureau Office, 280 Wall street, Kingston for the complete premium list if you have not already done so.

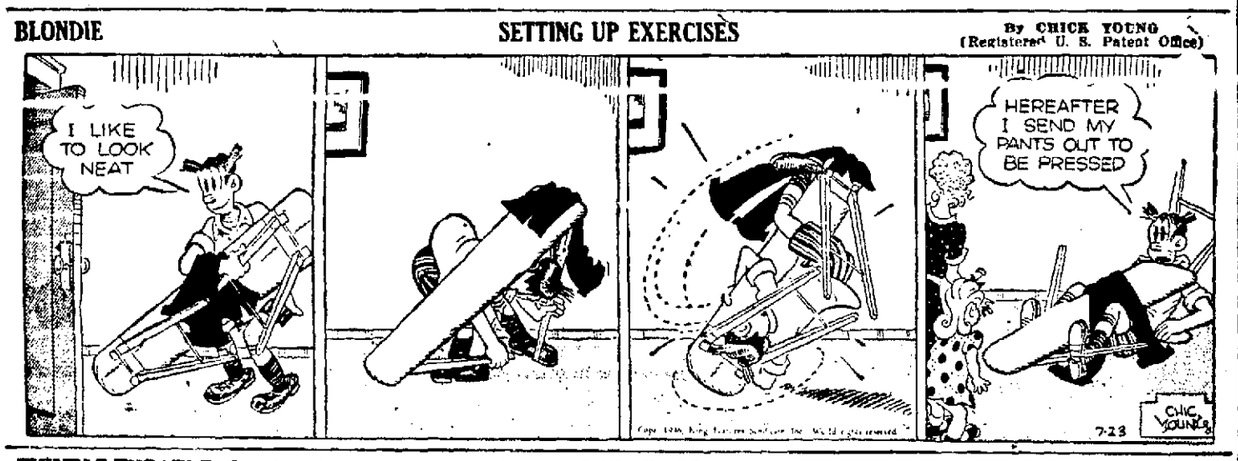

Old Building Material

Tile is one of the world's oldest building materials. Even the word is ancient, originating from the Anglo-Saxon "tigel" which is a derivative of the Latin "tegulo" from "tego" meaning to cover.

Cragsmoor Play Presents Psychological Study; Peggy Wynne Has Lead

"Guest in the House," the psychological study of a sickly imaginative young girl, which has been on Broadway and in the movies, opened at The Cragsmoor Theatre yesterday. Directed by Morton DaCosta, managing director of the barn theatre off Route 52 (Shawangunk Trail), the story by Hagar Wilde and Dale Eunson was built from the calm, peaceful mood of a happy home to a crescendo of horror, misunderstanding and impending tragedy.

The action of the play takes place in the home of a young happily married artist and his wife, who thoroughly understand and trust each other. The wife, grateful for her happiness, and feeling the urge to bring sunshine into the life of someone less fortunate than herself, invites a young cousin who has written to her of her loneliness and ill health, for a lengthy stay as her house guest. The frail, apparently delicate girl, brings a sinister influence on every member of the household.

Peggy Wynne does a good portrayal of Evelyn, the guest, and is completely believable in every mood. Appearing as the artist-husband, Richard Davis gives a fine interpretation of the role of sympathetic friend to the delicate girl. Helene Ambrose handles the part of the wife with understanding.

Fine preformances were also turned in by Nan McFarland as the hard-boiled model who poses for the artist; Frances Brandt as the aunt who has the courage to send the young girl to her death; Howard Otway as the young brother who is about to marry the guest; and Beaumont Bruestle as the minister to whom Evelyn lies and who is responsible for the resulting scandal. Other members of the cast include Arthur H. Plone, reporter; Bernard Gersten, photographer; and Al Calder, butler. Mrs. Liona Howell and her ten-year-old daughter Sally of Cragsmoor, and Mrs. Helen Tryon and Joseph Gaynor, of the Newburgh Civic Theatre, all amateurs, did a creditable job in supplementing the professional cast of regulars.

"Guest in the House" will play through Sunday, July 28, and will be followed by Somerset Maugham's "Theatre" the week of July 29.

THUMBS DOWN ON 'CURRENCY SHOWER'

A letter tells me: "A number of young women have received invitations to a 'currency shower.' None of them ever has heard of giving money at a shower. If they do go, would money be the only gift possible to offer? And if so, how much or how little would be sufficient?"

This is the first shower of its kind that I ever heard of and I sincerely hope that it will be the last. In fact, my impulse to protest against it is my reason for printing its description at the head of this column.

Even if the bride is in dire need of money, such a demand for it is in very questionable taste. It is true that during the war years it was not unheard of for the intimate friends to make a gaily decorated mite-box into which everybody put unseen the amount she could afford and signed her name on the outside of the box. Usually this collection was taken up for the bride to get sufficient railroad fare to join her husband-to-be for their wedding at his camp. This necessity being over, it is certainly in better taste to return to the custom of taking small gifts.

'Lunch' Is 'Dinner'

Dear Mrs. Post: When selecting a menu at our local hotel to be served at a party my husband and I are giving, we chose what they called their dinner menu. "Lunch" and "supper" seemed inadequate for some of the hearty appetites of our guests. Inasmuch as the guests have been invited for 1:30 p. m., I asked them "to lunch," taking for granted that no matter what the menu was, a midday meal was "lunch." My husband has brought up this question: Should we have said "to dinner"?

Answer: Your husband is right. In other words, the type of meal is more important than the hour at which it is served.

A Widow

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a widow and often when at work or in church I meet people who ask if I'm married. Just what is the proper answer? I usually say, "Yes," but then sometimes someone asks what my husband is doing, where he works or similar questions which I find painful to answer. Also, I think they feel embarrassed to have asked. Is there some way to avoid this?

Answer: Very definitely. The answer is, "I'm a widow."

July Milk Prices To Be Continued

New York Retail Price Stays at 21 Cents

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Milk producers and dealers serving the New York Metropolitan area have agreed to continue indefinitely prices paid producers during July.

It also was agreed yesterday, at a meeting called by the State Agriculture Department, to leave unchanged the retail price of 21 cents a quart in New York city. This price, set earlier in the month, represented a two cent boost over prices charged under the O.P.A.

Increased milk returns to producers for July were set at a previous meeting of producers and dealers at Albany to compensate for the lapse of federal subsidies when the O.P.A. expired June 30.

Prices to producers agreed upon yesterday were $5.02 per hundredweight for Class 1-A fluid milk, $3.95 for class 2-A fluid cream and 25 cents per hundredweight over the so-called Boston cream price for Class 2-B used for ice cream.

Edward O. Mather, executive director of the Milk Dealers Association of Metropolitan New York, said the prices were the same as those for July except "slight changes" in the price of milk for sour cream and ice cream.

Charles H. Baldwin, executive secretary of the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers bargaining agency, said his group was "reserving the right to seek in the future such increases as will offset higher costs."

He said the ultimate goal was to have the Federal-State Milk Marketing Order amended to "reflect the increased production costs to producers for grain, labor and machinery."

The agreement will go into effect August 1 if ratified by 97 per cent of the operators of plants approved for shipment of milk to the New York market, or 423 plants, whichever is lower. It will continue until negotiations are reopened by either producers or dealers, in which case it will end on the first of the following month.

Rain Halts Trials for 65 Youths Registered in Dodger School Here; Entry Blanks Ready for Ulster County Swimming Championship

Kingston Has 16 Entries, 33 Come From Other Towns

Batting, Pitching Drills Called Off by Weather; Karam Is Pleased With What He Saw

Turk Karam's Brooklyn baseball school was hopeful of a break in the weather today to resume the annual Kingston tryouts which were halted by a downpour about 2:30 yesterday.

With a fine looking group of 65 players seeking to impress Karam and his staff with enough to insure a start on the long trail toward a Dodger uniform, Karam and his assistants, Herb Thormahlen and John Carey hoped to at least get in some blackboard work today.

Sixteen Kingston youths turned out for yesterday's opening workouts, while Ulster county had a total of 33. Other players converged on Kingston from cities and towns between Brooklyn and Albany.

Yesterday's workout consisted chiefly of batting and pitching drills. The intermittent rain and poor condition of the playing field made everything else impossible.

Karam and his assistants said they were extremely satisfied with results of the first day's practice.

Not Fair Test

"It really wasn't a fair test in view of the condition of the ground and the bad weather," Karam said, "but we feel we've uncovered at least six players worthy of recommendation for Dodger farm contracts.

The swarthy Karam, who directed Recreation baseball destinies during the war years, refused to divulge the names of the players that have made the best impression.

Must Guard Names

"This is a tough racket," he told a Freeman reporter," and we have to guard our prospects carefully. If we were to announce the name of the leading prospects, scouts from other big league teams would come swooping down on them. There's plenty of competition in this kind of business and you have to play your cards close to the vest."

Kingston was represented in every department by standout high school, grade school and sandlot players. Ulster county also furnished a share of star high school performers. About 15 players are in attendance from Poughkeepsie.

Pitchers Try Out

The Kingston pitching delegation is headed by Warren "Bud" Swarthout, ex-G.I. and City Leaguer who has been around for quite a spell despite his comparative youth. Swarthout looked a bit too sharp for most of the rookies taking a cut at his offerings.

Other city twirlers hoping to impress Karam and his brigade are John J. Campbell, Francis Brennan, Bill Tierney, and Marvin Cole.

Bill Glaser, who has had one trial in organized baseball, heads the Kingston catching contingent and shapes up as the equal of any receiver on the field. A sturdy young catcher from Windham also received special attention, but the Dodger scouts refused to divulge his name. Joe Shattan, of Kingston, also is trying out for a catching berth.

May Unseat Durocher

William Mulligan, a youngster who manages three different teams in the city, is among the infield candidates. Chances are young Mulligan has his sights trained on Leo Durocher's job some day in the distant future.

Other Kingston infield candidates are John Weaver, Frank Ebelheiser, William Mulligan, Billy Ball, Angelo Corrado, George Glaser.

In the outfield where the competition generally is the toughest, Kingston is represented by Bill Mulligan, Bob Gorsline and Henry Trice.

After Louis' Heavy Crown

Willie Champion, Cleveland heavyweight, would like to be heavyweight king of the world some day, and his chances of making the grade look promising, judging from the display of boxing skill and power punching he displayed in beating Jimmy Rouse, army C.B.I. champion here earlier this year.

Champion, due to return for a match with Ray Hale, Canadian lumberjack, Thursday night, July 25, at the municipal stadium, handed the Albany boy his first defeat in five years of campaigning in the ring.

Since losing to Champion, Rouse, who holds a decision over Bruce Woodcock, Britain's professional ring star, has turned to the professional ranks.

"That boy can box, and punch too," Rouse told a reporter after he lost to the Clevelander.

Champion is one of the best developed physical specimens ever seen in the Kingston ring. He's an athlete all the way. He plays basketball well and excels at football. Willie was captain of the grid team that won the Cleveland city championship last fall.

Wants to Be Big Champ

Like Joe Louis, Champion hails from Alabama. He was born in Dolomite. His ambition is to be the second Alabaman to win the world's heavyweight title.

Johnny Wood, his trainer, who also handles professional boxers, likes Willie's chances. The smart little trainer, once the stablemate of the original Kid Chocolate, a boxing master, says Champion catches on quickly. "For a big fellow, he boxes well and doesn't have to take much punishment," Wood says.

While in school, the [illegible] western heavyweight champ works in an iron foundry. This helps him to keep his weight at the right point. He tips the beam at 196.

Anxious to Win Again

Champion is anxious to turn in another victory in Kingston and hopes to win over Ray Hale in the main bout on the B'nai B'rith card at the stadium, Thursday night.

This won't be easy, however, judging from the Canadian woodsman's ring record. He has met some of the best amateurs in the east. A strong, hard-hitting slugger like George Lampshire's white hope is no easy-mark for any fighter. "Hale should be a pro, but I want him to get a few more fights under his belt before he turns to the money ranks," says his trainer who has handled many a good action fighter in his day.

There are seven bouts on Thursday's card, featuring some of the best talent in the midwest and eastern section of the United States. Starting time of the first prelim is 9 o'clock.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

2. With an up-hill fairway shot with wood or iron, adjust to the situation by taking your usual stance, but bend your left knee just enough so that your hips and shoulders are level when in the address position. This stance will give you balance and prevent the tendency to fall backward toward the right foot as you swing. Strive for that feeling of even balance by the above knee adjustment. And, if opportunity offers for a few practice swings from this uneven stance, take them. With an uphill lie and the foot adjustments as described there is a tendency to hook. If you find this is your tendency, it is best to aim a bit to the right of the intended line to compensate. Until you are accustomed to swinging from a stance that has this bend in the left knee, you'll do better if you're a bit conservative and take the backswing more slowly than usual and start the club down slowly to be sure that you preserve balance. It is better to sacrifice a few yards than mangle the shot by being out of position at impact. (Protected by John F. Dille, Co.)

Roy Vogt Hits 71 To Win Week-End Blind-Bogey Play

Turns in 36 for First Time Around at Wiltwyck, 35 the Second

Roy Vogt, Wiltwyck's No. 1 golfer on the basis of the latest club handicaps, blistered the par-70 layout with a one-under-par 71, to capture honors in the weekly blind-bogey tournament over the week-end.

Vogt was one over with a 36 in the first round, and played even par for the second nine. He birdied No. 2 the first time around but was two over with a 6 on the tricky par-4 No. 3 hole. Vogt made a quick recovery and played even par the rest of the way.

Vogt was one over on No. 2 and No. 9 in the home stretch, but equalized par with birdies on No. 5 and the difficult No. 7.

His card for the 18 holes: Out—4, 2, 6, 4, 4, 5, 4, 3, 4—36; in—4-4-4-4-3-5-3-3-5—35.

W. B. Pedersen was runnerup in the low gross department with 37-39—76. His 5-handicap gave him a net 71.

Winners of the drawing for the blind-bogey were W. B. Pedersen, V. Gebhardt, A. Davis, Maurice Davenport and Ed Tongue.

State Semi-Pros To Begin Tonight Dropping Doubles

Jamestown, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—"Doubles eliminations" will begin tonight in the 11th annual New York State Semi-Professional Baseball Tournament, with teams scheduled to be dropped when they have suffered two defeats.

Single eliminations in the tourney, with a team dropped after one defeat, were to end with tonight's 6 o'clock game.

Eight teams remained in the tourney today after Salamanca and Lancaster had withdrawn, Olean had forfeited due to its ability to appear and Oswego and and the Dahlstrom Door team of Jamestown had been re-instated following protests.

Tourney officials said they had decided to re-instate the two teams, both of which had been defeated, because their protests arose from changes in the tourney schedule.

Games listed for today were: Ithaca Legion vs. Palmyra Garlocks; Jamestown Steel Partitions vs. Jamestown Dahlstrom Door Co.; Plattsburgh Legionnaires vs. Oswego Zephyrs, and Cappy's All Stars, Poughkeepsie, vs. Falconer Milling Co.

Winners of the Plattsburgh-Oswego and of the Steel Partitions-Dahlstrom games are to meet at 8 p. m. in the start of the doubles eliminations. A games set for 10 p. m. will match the winner of the Ithaca-Palmyra contest against the winner of the Poughkeepsie-Falconer contest.

Games scheduled for last night were postponed due to wet grounds.

Earlier, Cappy's All Stars of Poughkeepsie walloped the Lockport Kroll Park club 11-3, Plattsburgh defeated Cherry Creek 4-2 and the Falconer Milling nine edged the Dahlstrom Doors 2-1 in the game later disallowed by the tourney judges to permit the Dahlstroms to continue in the tourney.

Cappy's All Stars garnered 16 hits in their seven-inning contest with Lockport, while Plattsburgh bunched three hits in the sixth frame for their four runs.

Champion Stricken With Back Pains; New Date Not Set Yet

New York, July 23 (AP)—The middleweight title bout between Champion Tony Zale of Gary, Ind., and Challenger Rocky Graziano of New York, scheduled for Thursday night at Yankee Stadium, was postponed today because Zale had an attack of inter-costal neuritis. A new date was expected to be set later this afternoon.

Late yesterday afternoon, at his training camp in Pompton Lakes, N. J., Zale had an attack of sharp pains in his back. Dr. John T. O'Connell of Chicago, a friend of the champion's managers, was summoned from New York. He diagnosed the ailment and gave Zale treatments, but when the pain still was intense this morning, suggested that the champion ask a postponement.

Promoter Mike Jacobs was expected to set a new date for the bout after conferring on the matter with Zale, his managers, Sam Pian and Art Winch, and Graziano's manager, Irving Cohen.

Wilmington Player Will Defend Title

Seabright Tourney Also Features Women

Seabright, N. J., July 23 (AP)—Top-seeded Billy Talbert of Wilmington, Del., will swing into action in defense of his crown today in the 58th annual Seabright Invitation Tennis Tournament at the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club.

Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, who heads the seedings in the women's draw, takes the court against Louise Snow of Bakersfield, Calif., while second-seeded Mrs. Mary Arnold Prentiss of Los Angeles has to win her preliminary encounter from Lillian Lopaus of City Island, N. Y., before gaining the first round.

Rain cut the opening program short yesterday, although something of an upset developed when Mrs. Bunny Vosters of Philadelphia defeated Mrs. Helen Rihbany of New York, eastern clay courts champion, 6-3, 6-3, in a preliminary match.

Mrs. Eleanor Cushingham of Hollywood, Calif., defeated Betty Rosequest of South Orange, N. J., 6-4, 6-2.

San Francisco—Benny Calla, 136½, Oakland, Calif., outpointed Tony Rodriguez, 135½, San Francisco, (10).

Match Play Is Scheduled Today At Garden City

Mrs. C. Voss Turns in 87 in Qualifying Round of New York State Title Tourney

Garden City, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—With the qualifying round out of the way, the 32 players who survived were scheduled to get down to the serious business of match play today in the New York State Women's Golf Championship at the Cherry Valley Club.

(Mrs. Clarence Voss of Woodstock turned in a qualifying score of 43-44—87.)

Although medalist, Mrs. William Kirkland of Cedar Creek, Locust Valley, L. I., who had a one-over-par 77, was not expected to have too much difficulty in her first test with Mrs. E. S. Wise of Piping Rock, some tough competition awaited other first-round favorites.

One of two former champions was bound to fall by the wayside, for Mrs. Charles Leichner, of Fresh Meadow, who had a 90 in the qualifying round yesterday, was slated to tangle with spunky Grace Amory of Cedar Creek, who made her bracket with an 87. Miss Amory was injured in an automobile accident a year ago, and still walks with a slight limp.

Another close match was expected between Peggy Mackie of Inwood and Mrs. Bart O'Brien, of Ausable Forks, N. Y., the former Marjorie Harrison, a two-time winner. Mrs. Ruth Torgerson of the home club, the present Long Island champion, and several times Metropolitan winner, was to meet Mrs. Fred Meisner of Pomonok.

Another ex-champion, Mrs. Harry McNaughton of Seawane Harbor, who captured the crown in 1937, was to tangle with Mrs. Alex McFadden of Piping Rock.

Mrs. Kirkland, a powerful hitter, who gets as much distance off the tee as some of the top stars, was not disturbed by the rain, although the weather doubtless was the main factor in holding down the qualifying scores. After going out in 40, one over par, she equalled par on the back nine with a 37. Had she not struck a trap on the eighteenth, Mrs. Kirkland would have equalled men's par.

She was followed by Mrs. Mortimer May of Willow Brook with an 80; Mrs. F. K. Thayer of Cedar Creek who had an 81, and Hilda Swanson of Syracuse with 82.

Clark Goes After Medalist Honors On Denver Course

Denver, July 23 (AP) — Jimmy Clark, yellow-haired, 25-year-old Californian, was hot after medalist honors today as the 188 golfers remaining in the National Public Links Tournament teed off for a second qualifying tour of the difficult Wellshire Municipal Course.

The Long Beach youngster, who shot a 64—lowest medal score on record in U.S.G.A. competition—at the last tournament in Spokane, Wash., in 1941, fired another 64 yesterday to take a five-stroke lead over his nearest competitors.

Closest behind Clark as the shotmakers from 30 states, Canada and the Hawaiian Islands began the last lap of the 36-hole qualifying test were Buck Gann and Arthur St. John of Tulsa, Okla., who trimed two strokes off Wellshire's par with 69s.

Altogether, eight players broke par and six others matched it. Sixty-three had 75 or better and 80 had 76 or better, indicating that 150 to 151 would be necessary to enter the 64-man championship flight in which mat play starts tomorrow.

The Scoreboard

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

World Series money will be dangling in front of the Cardinals, Dodgers and Cubs today as they open important engagements in the National League pennant race.

The Boston Red Sox are about sure they can play .500 ball the rest of the way in the American League, but the senior circuit still is wide open. Although St. Louis and Brooklyn come east in an exact tie for first place with identical 53-34 records, the defending champs from Chicago are only five games back and coming strong.

Inability to beat the lowly New York Giants consistently has been as embarassing to the Cards as failure to top St. Louis has been to Brooklyn. Mel Ott's gang has trimmed the Red Birds 8 out of 13 and the Brooks have copped only 3 of 12 from Eddie Dyer's crew.

St. Louis, fresh from a successful home stand in which it bombed the eastern visitors in 10 of 13 starts to pick up five full games on the faltering Dodgers, opens in the Polo Grounds, followed by a trio with the Braves in Boston, head to a July 30-31-Aug. 1 set at Ebbets field.

Despite the disastrous jaunt, on which they dropped 8 of 13, the Brooks came home with a four-game victory string. Durocher has juggled his lineup into some semblance of stability with rookie Bob Ramazotti installed as the regular third baseman. The ex-GI is hitting .325 for 10 games.

Chicago has managed to stay in the race by picking on the Giants in 11 of 14 meetings. They're all even with the Dodgers in 14 games and can't afford to drop the series opening in Brooklyn tonight.

It's like old times in the American League with one club way out in front and the others scrambling for a piece of change. Only this time it's Boston, not New York, on the front end by 10½ games and threatening to make it more.

Detroit, crippled all season by a series of injuries, counts on a succesful home stand, opening today against Washington, to catch up with New York and take the runnerup post. The New York-Detroit series July 30-Aug. 1 will be the most important team event in the league during the next two weeks. As usual, Ted Williams' assault on the hitting marks will be the main event from an individual standpoint.

Next Rec Game Is Saturday Night

The fact that the Recreations are without a Wednesday night game for the first time since the season started will be impressed on local fans tomorrow night in the wake of a series of events that may result in lineup changes and a general overhauling of the club's setup.

The New York Firemen, one of Gotham's three service teams—the Sanitation and New York Police being the others—are scheduled for a Saturday night appearance at 9 o'clock in conjunction with the Ulster County Firemen's Convention and parade.

River Golf Group Sponsoring Second Program July 27th

The second of this season's "Saturday-at-Golf" sponsored by the Hudson River Golf Association will be held July 27 at the Orange County Golf Club, Middletown.

As an innovation in the 44-year existence of this golfing organization, the coming event will be a best-ball stroke competition for teams of two, the field being divided into two classes, A and B, with the usual three prizes being awarded in each class and with each member of the winning teams receiving a prize.

The difference between the handicaps of individuals making a team will be limited to six strokes, the lower one of the two prevailing. Thus if two men desire to play as a team, but the handicap of one of them is greater than the allowable limit of six strokes, the higher handicap player may assume a handicap which will bring him within the required range.

One-half of the combined individual handicaps will be considered the team handicap, all fractions that are one-half or less being dropped. Teams with a handicap of 13 or lower will compete in Class A, while teams with a handicap of 14 to 27 inclusive, will constitute Class B.

The member-clubs of the Hudson River Golf Association are: Dutchess Golf and Country Club, Poughkeepsie; Hudson River Country Club, Yonkers; Orange County Golf Club, Middletown; Out O'Bounds Aero and Golf Club, Suffern; Rockland Country Club, Nyack; Powelton Club of Newburgh; Twaalfskill Club, Kingston; West Point Officers' Golf Club, West Point.

Denver's Babe Is Top Figure

Texas-Born Woman Golf Star Plays in Tam

Chicago, July 23 (AP)—Mildred Babe Didrikson Zaharias of Denver, Colo., was the center of interest in a field of 50 professional and amateur women golfers seeking to qualify today in their division of the $50,000 All-American Tournament opening Thursday.

The Texas-born Babe was to make her golfing skill for the first time at Tam O'Shanter.

Fifty women players were to qualify today. Several of the name stars are exempt from the 18-hole trial, including professionals Patty Berg, winner of the first Women's Tam Open in 1943 and again last year, and Betty Hicks, 1944 champion.

The best of the women pro golfers will get $1,000 of the $3,500 prize pay-off. Should an amateur win, she will get $100 in War Bonds.

While most of the topnotch men professionals were taking things easy yesterday, Earl Stewart, former national intercollegiate champion, chipped five strokes off par with a fancy 67 in leading the 20 men amateurs who placed in the final qualifying round.

Famous Cartoons By Mauldin Will Appear in Freeman

Won Fame With Realistic Cartoons of Life Among Soldiers in the Front Lines

Cartoons by Bill Mauldin will appear in The Freeman starting Monday, July 29. This added feature will be published four days each week, Monday through Thursday.

Bill Mauldin, creator of the famed cartoon panel, "Willie and Joe," grew up on a homestead near Phoenix, Arizona, and might have become a cowpuncher instead of an artist. But he was a scrawny lad who couldn't compete with the physical prowess of his huskier friends, and so he spent a lot of time by himself—drawing pictures.

While in high school at Phoenix, he took a correspondence course in cartooning. After graduating from high school, he spent a year studying at the Academy of Fine Arts in Chicago. He eked out the necessary funds by driving trucks, washing dishes, waiting on tables and painting signs.

Upon his return to Phoenix, a local political cartoonist who needed an assistant started giving him assignments, paying him $25 a sketch. Then, Mauldin branched out on his own. Approaching two rival political factions, he got orders from each to concoct campaign posters smearing the other. This little arrangement worked out well until someone discovered that the conflicting posters were all by the same artist. Young Mauldin got out of this awkward situation by joining the Arizona National Guard, which shortly afterward was taken into the army. He became a private in the 45th Infantry Division.

That was in September, 1940. His early military life was not very conducive to art work, for he put in 64 days on K.P. during his first four months in the service. Then Lieut. Col. Walter M. Harrison, former managing editor of the Daily Oklahoman, saw some of Mauldin's drawings and assigned him to do a weekly cartoon for the 45th Division News.

During the next couple of years, as the division moved from training camp to training camp and finally overseas, Mauldin continued to turn out cartoons. By the time the 45th landed in Sicily in the summer of 1943, he was a full-time member of the staff of the division's newspaper. Meanwhile, he had risen to the rank of sergeant.

Mauldin went through the Sicilian campaign and on into Italy with the 45th Division, receiving the Purple Heart for injuries sustained from mortar shell fragments. While his unit was winning fame for its fighting qualities, he was winning individual fame with his realistic cartoons of life among the soldiers in the front lines.

Their wry, ironic humor attracted such wide attention that, early in 1944, Colonel Egbert White of Stars and Stripes arranged to have Mauldin transferred from the 45th Division to the staff of the Mediterranean edition of Stars and Stripes. When the late Ernie Pyle, in one of his newspaper columns, hailed Mauldin as the No. cartoonist of the war, newspaper syndicates in this country began bidding for his material. After some hot competition, rights were obtained by United Feature Syndicate, which started national distribution of his cartoons under the title, "UP FRONT WITH MAULDIN."

After Mauldin became a staff member of Stars and Stripes, he was based behind the lines, but he continued to spend most of his time at the front, traveling back and forth in a specially constructed jeep—the gift of a general who admired his work. This vehicle was fitted with blackout curtains so that he could work in it at night by the light of an electric bulb. The back seat was transformed into a locker in which he stored his rations and drawing materials and on top of which he could sleep. He not only covered the Italian front but, when his old outfit, the 45th, took part in the invasion of southern France, he accompanied them, stowing away with his jeep aboard an LST.

When he returned to Italy from France, he began work on his book UP FRONT, now telling in words as well as pictures what he had seen of the war and of the men who fought it. Soon after the book's publication, it zoomed to the top of the best-seller lists all over the country.

Mauldin came home from overseas at the end of the war in Europe and, shortly afterward, was discharged from the Army. So, too, were his cartoon characters, Willie and Joe, whom he now began depicting in civilian life.

Charged With Murder

Harold Horton (above), 36-year-old veteran, was charged with first degree murder shortly after his wife, Mildred, 38, was found shot to death in the kitchen of the Port Crane, N. Y., home. (AP Wirephoto)

N. Y., on June 7, 1916. He taught mathematics at St. Mary's College, North East, Pa., and for some years was stationed at the Roman Catholic Mission Church in Boston. Their mother, the former Katherine Coll, three years after the death of her first husband, Vivian de Valera, was married to Charles E. Wheelwright of Rochester, N. Y. Mrs. Wheelwright died in 1932. In recent years Father Wheelwright had divided his time between the retreat at Tobyhanna and one at West End, N. J., where he supervised a week-end retreat for Catholic laymen. Communist Chief Protests 'Invasion'

U. S. Marines Should Stay Out, Yen Thinks

Nanking, July 23 (AP)—The Communist New China News Agency said today that Communist General Yen Chien-Yi has protested to Peiping Executive Headquarters the repeated "invasions" of Communist-Controlled areas by U. S. Marines.

An agency dispatch reported that marines along the Peiping-Mukden railroad entered more than 10 villages near Changnee, with 300 in a group. It said that on July 14, the outskirts of Changnee were "invaded" by 150 marines while seven American warplanes were overhead. The dispatch came from Tsunhwa, Hopei province, in a sector where seven marines were kidnaped by an armed band of Chinese on July 13, precipitating widespread marine searches.

The agency said that Communists regarded such activities as "an unreasonable challenge of Chinese sovereignty" and warned that the Communists would take defense steps if they continued.

Arrests May Solve County Burglaries Near Whiteport

Three 16-Year-Olds Are Picked Up, Held to Answer to Charges

Arrest of three Queens county youths yesterday by Sergeant Arthur Reilly and Trooper Edward Rock of the State Police B.C.I., is believed to furnish the clue to a solution of several burglaries in the vicinity of Whiteport recently, as well as the theft of a Ford truck of Knaust Brothers.

Henry Snel, 16, of 629 Norman street, Ridgewood, N. Y., Robert Roberts, 16, of 1627 Center street, Queens, and Richard Spahn, 16, of 1052 Cyprus avenue, Queens, were arrested by the officers yesterday following the finding of the Knaust truck abandoned at Jersey City. The three lads were camping in the vicinity of Whiteport earlier this year and are being held to answer to charges that they took the truck, entered the Joseph Spark place at Whiteport and also attempted to take a Chevrolet from the Nicholas Conrad place at Whiteport about July 13.

The series of burglaries were reported to the State Police at about the same time the Knaust truck was taken from a garage at Whiteport after the lock had been shot away. Recovery of the truck in Jersey City led the Troopers to New York and out to Queens where the three lads were arrested. Brought back to Ulster county they were held for examination before Justice of the Peace Percy Bush of the town of Ulster and this morning when arraigned they waived examination and were held to await action of the grand jury.

Motorist Crashes Into Fence at Marbletown

Investigating a complaint by a Marbletown resident that a motorist had crashed into a fence on his property and had walked off leaving his car there, Deputy Sheriff Ellsworth substantiated the facts last night.

The deputy reported that Dr. J. H. MacDonald, of Route 3, Box 321, Kingston, had skidded off the pavement on Route 201 at Marbletown about 9:30 last night and crashed into a fence on the Kowal property.

Dr. MacDonald later returned and reimbursed Mr. Kowal for the damage to the fence and had his car pulled back on the road.

Two More A.L.P. Candidates File Their Declinations

Following the lead of Fred Dusing, business agent of Local 17, two other candidates on the American Labor Party ticket have filed declinations with the Ulster County Board of Elections.

Alexander Easton, of Woodstock, a WKNY announcer and ex-G.I., has declined to run as Assemblyman, while Adolph Elling, of Route 1, Kingston, filed declination as candidate for coroner.

Mr. Dusing's declination as candidate for county treasurer was filed on July 18. The others were postmarked July 20.

With three nominess having declined, and no designations made for State Senator and Representative to Congress, the A.L.P. is left without a single standard bearer for the August 20 primary.

Deadline for filing is tonight midnight, Board of Election officials said today. The Committee on Vacancies composed of Alexander Easton, Mabel Fisher and Hyman Blumberg will have until midnight tonight to name a new slate.

Paraguay Makes Federal Change

President Asks Permission to Resign Office, Go to Brazil

Buenos Aires, July 23 (AP)—Reports from Asuncion indicated today that Paraguay was undergoing a change of government as a result of the successful civilian revolution in Bolivia, her neighbor to the northwest.

There was no word of violence, but President Higinio Morinigo was said to have asked permission from the armed forces to resign and leave for Brazil.

Advices said Morinigo's entire cabinet had resigned. Information reaching the town of Formosa on the Argentine-Paraguayan frontier indicated that the Bolivian coup created a reaction in Paraguay favorable to Morinigo's opponents.

Paraguay was the scene of an abortive army revolt in June in which five persons were killed. An atmosphere of political tension has prevailed since.

'Hellcats' Pick Flynn As Their President

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served and those in attendance enjoyed a sociable evening.

payments," particularly on livestock.

Major Provisions

Washington, July 23 (AP)—Here are major provisions of the new compromise O.P.A. bill as it went to the House and Senate for floor action:

Revives O.P.A. until June 30, 1947.

Prohibits price ceilings before August 20 on meats, dairy products, grains, cottonseed and soybeans, and food and feed products made from them; poultry and eggs, food and feed products made from them; tobacco and its products; and petroleum and its products.

Empowers a new three-man control board to be named by the President and confirmed by the Senate, to decide before August 20 whether those items will be restored to price control or left free of ceilings.

Provides that if this board fails to act, one way or the other, O.P.A. on its own initiative may restore controls on meat, dairy products, grains, cottonseed and soybeans, and food and feed products made from them.

Permits O.P.A. on direct authorization of the board, and only on that basis, to renew ceilings on poultry, eggs, food and feed products made from them, tobacco and its products and petroleum and its products.

Revives without change the federal rent controls which expired June 30 with President Truman's veto of the original O.P.A. extension bill.

Provides for "reasonable profit" to manufacturers in a pricing formula based on the industry-wide average in 1940, plus industry-wide average cost increases since then.

Fixes March 31, 1946—instead of June 29, 1946, as the Senate had voted—as the basis for percentage discounts and markups to be allowed wholesalers and retail distributors in setting their maximum prices.

Transfers price controls over farm commodities to the secretary of agriculture.

Grants an additional $1,000,000,000 for subsidies but bans any food subsidies after April 1, 1947.

Guarantees automobile and appliance dealers full pre-war margins and discounts until sales return to the 1939-41 average.

Kills O.P.A.'s maximum average price regulation which was intended to assure a supply of low-priced clothing.

Hanley Is Found In Bad Condition

swollen badly. He had suffered a gunshot wound in the left leg. His clothing was torn. Police said he was "in a bad shape."

Speaking incoherently, the ex-G.I. told captors:

"I had a fight with Skip."

That was his name for his 22-year-old wife, Helen, who was shot to death with her escort, John Hoffman, 26, Collegeville, Pa., as they sat in a parked car about 300 feet from the home of Mrs. Hanley's parents, early last Tuesday morning.

Detective Sergeant William Bradley said Hoffman named Hanley as the slayer shortly before he died. Mrs. Hanley, mother of three children, died almost instantly. Hoffman lived four hours after being shot as he ran from the automobile.

Finding of Hanley's abandoned automobile the day following the shooting led District Attorney Frederick B. Smillie to express belief the man had killed himself. A note in the car said:

"Watch my kids, Lady and Luke. I hope you understand. Couldn't let nobody have her."

It was signed "Ken Hanley."

Corning Says Albany Spurns Housing Project

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Mayor Erastus Corning of Albany says this city does not want "anything to do" with a state emergency housing project for veterans at a local park (St. Mary's).

Corning said yesterday, after a conference with State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman, that the principal reason for his stand was the "divided responsibility" of the project between state and city.

Corning said Stichman asked him if "politics or the coming election had anything to do with it."

"I told him definitely they did not," Corning declared.

The mayor added:

"It now becomes clear to me that the management of this project, with a divided responsibility, will be unsatisfactory from the standpoint of the state, city and the tenants."

"I know enough now that it is not a project the city wants anything to do with."

The project calls for 250 family units and 150 single units for college G.I. students. Upwards of 500 applications have been reported filed.

Leniency Drive Grows

Prague, July 23 (AP)—Demands for leniency for Dr. Josef Tiso, wartime president of Slovakia under the Nazis, appeared to be growing among Catholic laymen today as the date for the former priest's trial on a treason charge approached. This sentiment was reflected by Bishop Jan Votjtasak, prominent Czech prelate who told a press conference that in his opinion Tiso is not a traitor. The trial is expected to start in August.

Istanbul, July 23 (AP)—A spokesman for President Ismet Inonu's People's Party said today that an unofficial tabulation of returns from Sunday's election indicated that the party had won at least 365 seats in the 460-seat national assembly.

Adroit Detroit Puts Ban on Leer With Women Near

Detroit, July 23 (AP)—One Detroit police precinct put a bounty today on the masculine leer that usually precedes or follows the passage of a pretty girl.

Officers announced than an ancient city ordinance has been invoked to ticket and fine men guilty of "ogling" the female form.

Several men have already been ticketed, according to Lieut. Charles Witherite, who said he had instructed his patrolmen to crack down on wide-eyed males within the precinct.

The ordinance prohibits a man from "improperly, lewdly, wantonly or wrongfully" accosting, ogling, insulting, annoying, following, pursuing, laying a hand on or molesting any person in public.

The lieutenant's own description of "ogling" is "looking her over."

Violating of the ordinance may carry a $500 fine or 90 days in jail, but the court fine usually ranges from $20 to $25, the officer said.

Can't Carry Revolver

Boston July 23 (AP)—A 20-year-old marine veteran of the Pacific islands campaigns has been denied a permit to carry a revolver needed in his job as an armore, car guard. Police said Henry J. Donigan, who fought on Guadalcanal, Guam, Peleliu and Saipan, is one year too young. The law states specifically that no revolver permit can be issued to any person under 21.

No Neckties

La Paz, Bolivia, July 23 (AP)—Neckties disappeared today from the apparel of Bolivians, Student revolutionists started the fad by discarding the necktie as a "symbol of servility and conformity."

Police Detain 20 Jews; Report 48 Persons Dead

he expected to confer with Cunningham today. The high commissioner was believed to be planning to fly from Palestine to Cairo to confer with Gen. Lt. Miles C. Dempsey, commander of British forces in the Middle East.

Gen. Barker said in an interview that the bitter part of the incident was that "there was no excuse for it, no reason for it."

"For a long time I have wanted to take over this whole hotel to prevent people you don't know from walking around freely," he said. "This is a terrific loss, not only in lives and property, but in records and documents."

The general made this comment as he and other high officers watched military and Arab workers removing debris in baskets, chain fashion.

Secretariat Is Blasted

The explosion blasted the secretariat and the headquarters of the British Army, situated in the hotel building, and damaged nearby structures including the Y.M.C.A. across the street. Windows were shattered throughout Jerusalem.

The Jewish agency statement said that the executive of that organization and the National Jewish Council, "express their horror at the dastardly crime perpetrated by a gang of desperadoes who attacked government offices in Jerusalem and shed the innocent blood of government officers and other citizens, British, Jewish and Arab."

The organization urged the Jewish community in Palestine to "rise up against these abominable outrages."

The attack was blamed by responsible Jewish sources on "either the Irgun Zvai Leumi or the Stern gang," underground organizations.

All facilities of the United States consulate were offered to the Palestine government by Malcolm P. Hooper, acting American consul general. Palestine officials requisitioned undamaged portions of the King David Hotel, ordering all guests to vacate.

Twenty-five rooms on five floors of the hotel were destroyed by the explosion, which was described as equivalent to that of a 500-pound bomb.

Proposals Are Stalled

London, July 23 (AP)—The bombing of British Military Headquarters in Jerusalem yesterday appeared today to have destroyed virtually all possibility of early implementation of recent proposals for the admission of 100,000 European Jews to Palestine.

While official comment was withheld, it was no secret that the incident had caused the gravest anxiety in the foreign office and informed quarters regarded the new outbreak of violence as coming at a particularly unfortunate moment.

Prime Minister Attlee summoned a special meeting of the cabinet, and while the agenda was not disclosed it was regarded as certain that the bombing and the heavy toll of casualties—reported to total 98 dead or missing—would be discussed.

A highly placed source said that consideration of dispatching military reinforcements to Palestine would be a cabinet matter and that any final decision for sending additional British troops would be on the highest level.

Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, British commissioner for Palestine, left by plane today to return to Jerusalem after several days spent conferring with colonial office and cabinet officials. The colonial office did not disclose the outcome of the talks nor any instructions he might have been given.

Foreign office reactions was summed up authoritatively but unofficially in this fashion:

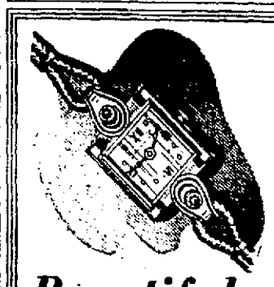

The keystone of British policy, in regard to implementation of the recommendations of the British-American Committee of Inquiry, has been peace and public order in Palestine. It was to assure this that Britain embarked late in June on a course of mass arrests and widespread searches for concealed weapons and explosives.

The newest attack, transcending by far any previous anti-British activities, has emphasized that illegal forces intend to continue disorders in Palestine and that public order is more uncertain than ever.

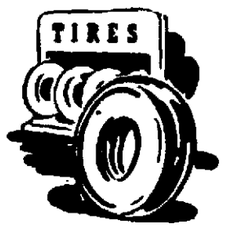

Britain has made it plain—and has reiterated—that the restoration of order is essential and that she cannot support the inquiry committee's recommendation for the admission of 100,000 Jews until this prerequisite is fulfilled.

The newest outbreak of violence similarly is regarded by the foreign office as having strengthened the position of the Arabs, who maintain that their safety is progressively menaced by Jewish immigration. This is particularly regretted by the foreign office because it reinforces Arab resistance to any proposals for the disarmament of Moslems in Palestine.

Yesterday's bombing brought sharp editorial comment from the British press, which took the view that the incident was likely to delay a satisfactory solution of the whole Palestine problem.

White Faces $50,000 Damages; Hearing Is Set for July 31

San Diego, Calif., July 23 (AP)—Showman George White, 52, whose "Scandals" glorified many an up-and-coming chorine, had a $50,000 damage suit in addition to three felony charges on his hands today as an outgrowth of the traffic deaths of a newly wed couple.

White was arraigned in municipal court here yesterday on two counts of manslaughter and one of failure to stop and give aid. He continued at liberty under $2,000 bail. His preliminary hearing, on the felony complaints issued by the district attorney, was set for July 31.

Victims of the accident were Claude McLester Lee, 42, and his bride, Leona Ann Osborne Lee, 18, of Santa Ana, Calif. State Highway Patrolman Luther M. Hake said the couple, married Saturday at Tijuana, Mex., were struck as they crossed the coast highway at Solana Beach, north of here, Saturday.

James R. Osborne of Victorville, Calif., father of Mrs. Lee, filed the damage suit in Superior Court in behalf of Mrs. Lee's 18-month-old son by a previous marriage, James C. Fitzgerald. Osborne also asked $500 for burial expenses for his daughter.

A coroner's inquest into the deaths of the couple will be conducted today by Deputy Coroner Dave Bone. White has been excused from attending but will be represented by counsel, Bone said.

Pennsylvania to Study Effect of Sewage

Harrisburg, Pa., July 23 (AP)—Can municipal sewage be safely dumped into acid mine streams without treatment?

The state of Pennsylvania sought the answer to that question today in awarding a $20,000 contract to the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research to make the study.

Except along the upper reaches of the Schuylkill River the Keystone State has refrained from ordering abatements on strongly acid streams to prepare plans for sewage treatment plants.

The state's sanitary water board's preliminary belief is that waters so badly polluted by mine waters could not be worsened by addition of sewage.

Acid mine water enters many streams throughout the anthracite region and to a large extent in bituminous fields in central and western Pennsylvania.

'Vacation' Ends For Two Bandits

Sheriff Kills Two Robbers in Gun Battle

Osceola, Mo., July 23 (AP)—A straight shooting sheriff and his deputy ended an "Ozarks vacation" for two bandits near here yesterday less than 30 minutes after the Humansville, Mo., bank was robbed.

Sheriff Logan Peery and Deputy J. E. Kincaid caught the pair changing license plates in a brush-fringed country lane and killed both of them in a brisk gun battle.

From social security cards found on them, they were identified as Philip Joseph Cronin, 45, of Essex, Mass., and Bill Frizzell, address unknown. Will Reynolds, resort operator, said they had posed as brothers named "Drum" at his place where they had spent two weeks with two women—one red-haired and the other a brunette.

"They were very handy with pistols," Reynolds recalled. "Much of their time was spent shooting at sticks in the river."

A few hours after they had been slain a red-haired woman was picked up at Pittsburg, Kas., by police who intercepted a Nevada, Mo., taxicab in which she was a passenger. Police Chief Tom Stowers at Pittsburg said she had admitted being with the two gunmen earlier and gave the name of "Drum." Officers believed the brunette also was somewhere in southeast Kansas.

Peery and Kincaid spotted the bandits soon after giving chase. As they pulled up behind their car, the sheriff stepped out with revolver drawn and Kincaid followed with a high-powered rifle. The gunmen ran around the car, one firing twice. The one identified as Frizzell was killed by Kincaid as he seized an automatic pistol from the car and fired. Peery shot the other as he raised his head up over the hood.

In their car was found $4,700 and a rental slip for a car, issued at Hartford, Conn., and answering the description of the one they were driving. Whether all the money had been taken from the Humansville bank could not be determined until a more careful check, O. E. Simms, cashier of the bank, roughly estimated the loot at "well over $1,000."

Will Extend Plan

Berlin, July 23 (AP)—The Soviet-endorsed plan for the nationalization of former Nazi-owned industries, first adopted in lower Saxony, is going to be extended to Brandenburg, another province in the Russian occupation zone, it was indicated today. The properties involved are classified as having belonged to war criminals and active Nazis. On June 30 the voters of Saxony approved expropriation and state ownership of about 500 such plants in a plebiscite. The British-licensed Berlin Telegraf reported today that in Bradenburg 720 enterprises had been listed for expropriation.

J., and 33rd street was suspended today during the morning rush hours as the result of a train derailment last night near the Erie station in Jersey City.
